Dear Eli,

I've been analyzing the "meta" of your shop. You have two types of players: the casuals buying coffee, and the "whales" buying high-end singles and sealed product.

Right now, your payment processor is treating your "whales" like casuals. Every time someone swipes for a $500 Commander deck, you are paying ~3.5% in fees and accepting 100% of the chargeback risk.

It's time to upgrade the payment meta.

My firm, New Digital Payment Systems LLC, deploys a specialized "Asset Rail" for game stores that runs alongside your existing Toast/Square cafe system:

- The Buff: Transaction fees on collectibles dropped from 3.5% to 2.5%.
- The Shield: Zero chargeback liability. When a card is sold, the settlement is final.
- The Loot Loop: Instant payouts for buying collections. Pay sellers in USDC/Stablecoin instantly—safer than cash, faster than checks.

I've built a simulator to show how this "Hybrid Build" changes your P&L. I'll stop by Tuesday to demo it.
